An Advanced Clinical Guide to the Professional Homeopathic Practice

The latest findings about potencies, miasms and observations of Hering are fine tuned for clinicians. Furthermore, Eleven Intra-Uterine questions and eleven questions for the homeopath to see if the clinician has the right remedy are explained in detail with clinical examples. In addition, the Core Delusion is defined and ways of finding it in the clinic. Jung's introduction of extrovert and introvert types, as well as the functions of consciousness, give the homeopath a solid introduction to use these characteristics to know the constitution and temperament of the patient. This is an invaluable guide for any professional in practice.
