About Bill Gray and Jonathan Shore

Bill Gray studied in Greece for 2 years in the late 1970's. He was the first foreigner accepted as a personal student by George Vithoulkas. During this time he assisted in writing the Science of Homeopathy. On his return to the USA he founded the International Foundation for Homeopathy and was a major moving force in the re establishment of Classical Homeopathy in the United States. When Bill Gray returned from Greece and began to teach, Jonathan Shore was one of those who were profoundly influenced by the system of homeopathy that he brought back with him and soon became an initiating member of the homeopathic community. He was one of the initiating founders of the Hahnemann Clinic and the Hahnemann College and is still one of the three core faculty members of the college. Over the past 15 or so years both practitioners have lectured worldwide and have greatly influenced the return of Pure Classical Homeopathy.

Note from the publisher

I decided to produce these 10 CD's both for the students of Bill Gray and Jonathan Shore, and as time has passed by, for a whole new generation of homeopaths who have never had the opportunity to follow a seminar from one of these real Masters of Homeopathy. As homeopathy in recent years has been open to many new influences and movements, I feel it is of vital importance that this new generation of homeopaths has the opportunity to learn these teachings, these foundations as laid down by our Classical Homeopathic Masters.

I started with this Volume I, a seminar held by Bill Gray and Jonathan Shore in Burg Haamstede, The Netherlands, April 1989 and more audio CD sets of other seminars will follow.
