More About Dr. André Saine & His Repertory Additions

Dr. André Saine, ND, DHANP, is a graduate of the National College of Naturopathic Medicine in Portland, Oregon and is board-certified in homeopathy by the Homeopathic Academy of Naturopathic Physicians. He has been teaching and lecturing on Homeopathy since 1985.

His clinical work focuses on the treatment of patients suffering from serious chronic diseases. He is known as a homeopathic scholar based on his in-depth studies of the work of the great masters of the past. According to André, his real teachers were the great masters of the past, – Carroll Dunham, P. P. Wells, Constantine Hering, and especially Adolph Lippe – whom he discovered by reading old homeopathic journals. The study of their work inspired him to review all of Hahnemann's writings and helped him to understand them better.

Dr. Saine's repertory additions derive from two sources: his clinical experience, and his extensive research into the classical literature of homeopathy. His additions represent an invaluable addition to the practice of classical homeopathy.

* Synthesis Treasure Edition is version 9.2. This is the latest version of the Synthesis Repertory, included with your new or upgraded purchase of RADAR 10.
